THE UTAH QUESTION.

Senator Callom, of Illinois, is chairman of the senate committee on territories, to whom the Mormon "constitution" of Utah as a proposed state was referred. His answer to the "childlike and bland" Mormon appeal for statehood may be inferred from the bill which he has introduced for the government of the territory of Utah by "Executive Commission." The essential provisions of the bill are: 1. That the executive power of the territory shall be vested in a governor and an executive assembly; the executive assembly to consist of thirteen citizens of the United States, residents of the territory, having the qualifications of voters therein, to be appointed by the president of the United States and confirmed by the senate. 2. Each member of the executive assembly shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president. 3. The sessions of the legislature shall be biennial and shall be held in Salt Lake City, and not exceed ninety days. 4. And the governor of the territory shall nominate and by and with the consent of the senate appoint all officers now by law appointed by the governor and with the advice and consent of the executive council.

It is very likely that a majority of the democrats in congress will oppose the Callom bill. It is very singular that a man of the standing of George Ticknor Curtis should plead for the admission of Utah on the terms demanded by the Mormons themselves. But Mr. Curtis expresses the sentiment of the democratic majority of the house of representatives, when he makes these three principal points in favor of Utah: (1) The United States has in the past been criminally indifferent to the prevalence of polygamy in Utah. (2) It is at present cruelly and unjustly harsh in its efforts to suppress it. (3) Utah ought to be admitted into the Union on the terms proposed by the Mormons themselves.

It will be very difficult work for the democratic leaders to show a reason why Utah, with its small population and its crime of polygamy should be admitted into the Union, while Dakota, with its 350,000 inhabitants, 4,000 miles of railway, 350 newspapers, 900 churches, and 1,800 school teachers, should be kept out of the Union. Putting the whole thing in a nutshell, the point is this: "If Utah is admitted as a state it must come in on terms of perfect equality with all the other states. That it would not so come in is demonstrated by the inability of congress to change the constitution of states. The proposed constitution is a flimsy, transparent trick. Once in the Union polygamy and every other domestic institution would be relegated to the control of the state forever. To admit Utah with that constitution would be a monstrous blunder or something worse. She would at once slip from under the jurisdiction of congress so far as her domestic affairs are concerned. When polygamy is dead it will be time to admit her, if she wants to come in."

JACKSON AND CLEVELAND.

Some time ago the New York Tribune had occasion to refer to Mr. Cleveland as Andrew Jackson II, as a dispenser of public spoils. But that paper now confesses that the thing was done in haste and that it was an unwarranted reflection upon Jackson's memory. It does seem when one compares the extent of the spoils system under Jackson with that under Cleveland, that Andrew Jackson may well be called a civil service reformer.

The percentage of changes made during the two years and four months of Cleveland's administration ending June 30, 1887, has been set forth by Senator Hale in his speech in the senate two weeks ago, and is well worth studying. The percentage of changes to the whole number of offices, is as follows:

Offices.	Percentage of changes made.
Fourth-class postmasters.....	75
Presidential postmasters.....	75
Foreign ministers.....	75
Secretaries of legation.....	75
Collectors of customs.....	75
Surveyors of customs.....	100
Naval officers.....	100
Appraisers.....	75
Mint and assay office superintendents.....	75
Assistant appraisers.....	75
Internal revenue collectors.....	75
Steamboat inspectors.....	75
District attorneys.....	75
Territorial judges.....	75
Territorial governors.....	75
Pension agents.....	75
Surveyors-general.....	100
Local land officers.....	100
Ladies inspectors and special agents.....	75
Indian agents.....	75
Land office special agents.....	75

Senator Benton, in his "Thirty Years View" and of course he is authority on the subject, speaking of Jackson, says that of the nearly 8,000 postmasters then in the United States precisely 491 were removed during the first year, and these, it is claimed by Benton, who was Jackson's biographer, were for cause. Of the whole number of removable officials, amounting to many thousands, only 491 were removed. Out of seventeen diplomatic functions only four, three ministers and one charge were recalled. Whole classes, all those whose functions partook of the judicial, were left untouched throughout his administration except for the case of one territorial judge, whose removal was recommended by the attorney general. The Tribune states that the number of removals by Jackson made after the first year has been much in dispute, but so far as is known, Benton's statement that Jackson left a majority in office against him, even in the Washington department, which had no civil service law to protect them, has been successfully challenged.

So in carrying out the spoils system it appears from historical evidence that Cleveland has outdone Jackson.

The administration leaders transferred their influence the other day to Pennsylvania to defeat Randall. In view of this the following paragraph is timely: "Congressman Randall saved President Cleveland from defeat in 1884, by making speeches in New York, declaring that neither the democratic platform nor candidate of that year was opposed to protection. If, in his letter of acceptance, Cleveland had hung out the free trade banner as he did in his recent annual message to congress, he would not have carried either New York, New Jersey or Connecticut. Randall made Cleveland president, but Cleveland will not be president again if he tries to get along without Randall and the protection democrats." The administration evidently does not believe in the saying that one good turn deserves another.

A Washington dispatch says that Congressman Thomas, of Prairie du Chien, reports that "there is a narrowing down of the lines in the contest for the Wisconsin governorship. The two main candidates now are Gist and McFadden. Gist would have been a good man, and have made a promising candidate. But he positively took himself out of the race by his declarations so openly and strongly made that he is not a solicitor of the honor. Gist is a strong man, and would make a good canvasser for any office to which he might be nominated. But he is not a candidate for governor, and the whole thing is now between Gist and McFadden. Both are good men, and either can be elected."

The governor of Rhode Island, in his annual message, sadly acknowledges that the prohibitory law of that state is a failure, and he says that the fact that it is a failure is entirely due to "a lack of public sentiment" to support and enforce it. There may be some truth in this, but more than likely the failure to enforce prohibition in that state is due to a lack of moral courage on the part of officials to deal with those who willfully violate the law. In this case, as in many others, public sentiment is nearer right than the officers of the law.

Mr. Wanamaker, the millionaire merchant of Philadelphia, has solved the problem of cheap homes for his working-men, simply by giving it. For $3.25 a week they get board, lodging, washing of a dozen pieces and the use of bath room, reception and dining rooms, and bowling alleys. It is this Mr. Wanamaker who paid $107,000 for Munkacsy's "Christ Before Pilate." He also has a Sunday school class of an average attendance for the past twenty-five years of 325.

Circulars were recently issued to one hundred of the most prominent republicans in Iowa, including the governor, state officials and others, among other inquiries asking them their opinion as to the repeal of the prohibition law. All but four oppose its repeal. Thirty-seven, including the governor, favor optional prohibition. And yet the third party prohibitionists are constantly working to defeat these ninety-six, or even the thirty-seven.

There never was a truer statement made than this from the Boston Journal: "The Voice," the third party prohibitory organ, manifested one-half the animosity toward the saloons which it displays toward anti-saloon republicans, it would be very likely to accomplish something for the cause of temperance.

The richest man in Bangor, Maine, is Edward H. Blake, who is worth between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000. He is not yet 40 years of age and remains unmarried. He is a lawyer by profession. Mr. Blake has neither parents, sisters nor brothers living, and therefore does not have to worry much over the cost of living.

If this be a time of harmonious relations between the north and the south, when all things of the past are to be forgotten, and Lamar climbs the supreme bench of the Nation, why not remember his best friend "that scholar and patriot," Jefferson Davis, and give him a pension.

Fall Brook, California, is a prohibition town, and all deeds to town lots forever forbid the sale of liquor. A company is now building a hotel there to cost about $20,000 to be named the Frances E. Willard. This will be a prohibition house and no wines will be allowed in it.

Democratic stock rose 1/2 of 1 per cent. when Senator Ingalls' library was burned. Too many libraries will be the death of the party. —New York Press.

Ingalls' library, or rather the knowledge he obtained from it, was a source of trouble to the democrats.

Dropped Her Child Beneath the Wheels. DAY CITY, Mich., Jan. 21.—Mattie Olney, while riding in a train near Lapeer Thursday night dropped her child from the car platform. The whole passed over it, crushing it to death. The woman was arrested, but claims she dropped the child accidentally.

Indiana Bee-Keepers in Session. INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 21.—Two hundred Indiana bee-keepers, with a small representation also from Illinois and Ohio, have been here discussing the ways and means of bees, how to make them produce more honey and how to properly care for them.

Undervalued $20,000. NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The investigation by Collector Magone into the cases of under-measurement of textile fabrics imported from Europe fixes the value of the goods at $20,000. Three large druggists are involved.

SPECIAL TELEGRAMS.

Fearful Collision and Loss of Life at St. Paul at an Early Hour this Morning.

Death of Grandma Garfield, Mother of the Martyred President.

President Cleveland Insists that the Democratic Convention Must Be Held in New York.

MANY PERSONS KILLED.

Special to the Gazette. ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 21.—Two passenger trains on the Minneapolis & St. Louis railway collided at the foot of Third street in this city this morning. Both trains are a complete wreck. Both trains had on board a large number of passengers, and many persons are reported killed and wounded. One man's head was completely severed from his body. The cold is intense, and it is feared that many passengers will freeze to death before they are taken from the wreck. Luckily the fire department is on hand to prevent a holocaust and to render aid and within their reach. It is not too impossible at this time to ascertain the names of the killed and wounded. There is much confusion and excitement in the vicinity of the wreck.

GRANDMA GARFIELD DEAD.

Special to the Gazette. MEXICO, Ohio, Jan. 21.—Grandma Garfield, mother of the martyred president, died at her home in this village at five o'clock this morning, aged 85 years.

MUST GO TO NEW YORK.

Special to the Gazette. WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Senator Beck, of Kentucky, reports that in an interview he had with President Cleveland for the purpose of ascertaining the president's wish regarding the place of holding the democratic national convention, the president insisted that the convention must be held in New York. This puts a damper on the efforts of the politicians who are here in the interests of other cities.

ANOTHER LOVE AFFAIR.

Special to the Gazette. COLUMBIANA, Mich., Jan. 21.—Mrs. H. H. Hunk, a widow, commenced a suit here to day against Dr. J. M. Long, a prominent physician, for breach of promise, claiming damages of ten thousand dollars. Dr. Long claims the suit is a blackmailing scheme.

English Baptists Try to Expel the Noted London Preacher, But Find They Can Not.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—A plenary council of the Baptist Union, consisting of prominent divines of that denomination from all parts of the United Kingdom, met here yesterday to consider the withdrawal of Rev. Mr. Spurgeon from the organization. In behalf of the reverend gentleman, who, it was stated, could not withdraw his resignation, it was contended that the constitution did not contain any clause giving sufficient powers to enable it to deal with members who displayed heretical tendencies, and it was suggested that the council should adopt a body of rules such as are accepted as evangelical doctrines. The council will be in session for several days.

Want Damages for Their Dogs.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 21.—The dog owners who suffered by the burning of the Fourth regiment armory last week have decided to bring suit against the managers of the Columbus Beach-Show to recover damages. The dog owners will allege carelessness on the part of the managers; that they were guaranteed protection; that watchmen employed were told to look out for the dogs, and that the dogs were not kept out of the armory. The damages claimed will amount to not less than $50,000.

Case Against Hopkiss Complete.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 21.—The Government closed its case against Benjamin E. Hopkiss of the Midway Bank yesterday afternoon. Expert Hayes being the last witness. The jury was then dismissed to enable them to visit their homes, with instructions to return Monday afternoon. Meanwhile the defense began an argument on a demurrer to the evidence in the form of a bill of particulars, alleging concerted action between Harper and Hopkiss.

The Deadly Coast.

PRINCETON, Pa., Jan. 21.—A bob-sled on which a party of half a dozen young men were coasting struck a carriage on Forbes street Thursday night, upsetting the vehicle and dangerously injuring the colored driver, George Jones. The occupants of the sled were all more or less hurt. Will Dentz, who was guiding, had both legs broken and was injured internally. It is thought he will die.

A Verdict for $10,000 Against a Railroad.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21.—In the case of Catherine E. Crolley against the Pennsylvania railroad, which was tried before Judge Finckler, Mrs. Crolley obtained a verdict for $10,000. The plaintiff's husband, Hugh Crolley, was killed by a train of cars at the intersection of Point House road, on the Pennsylvania railroad, near Greenwich Point, on the 9th of last June.

A Thousand Lives Estimated Lost in the Late Blizzard.

NEW VICTIMS OF THE STORM.

Distress of Passengers on a Blocked Train—Babies Frozen in Their Mothers' Arms—Another Cold Spell in the Northwest.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Jan. 21.—Judge J. E. Kinney, agent of the Yankton Sioux Indian Agency in Dakota, arrived here yesterday after being nine days on the road. Five days were necessary for the party to travel thirty miles. The thermometer during the five days was at 40 degrees below zero most of the time. The judge says the loss of life in Dakota has been greatly underestimated, as the Dakota papers have tried to cover it up. He describes the scene which took place on board the cars. The coal was running low. The passengers were crowded into one car, trying to keep warm. Two babies perished. The men discarded all the outer garments they could spare and gave them to the ladies and children. Finding this unavailing, they brought small-arms from the post and wrapped the children up in them. While at one station in Bonhomme County, the judge says, nineteen frozen bodies were brought in. The report is on one day. In Bonhomme County they lost 162 of dead will reach fully 160. The estimates as made at Yankton yesterday of the loss throughout the Territory figure an over 1,000 lives lost. The counts were the loss of life was the largest are: Bonhomme, 100; Hutchinson, 14; Lincoln, 13; Dodge, 25; Spink, 12; Hard, 10; Ward, 15. The northern and central parts of the Territory have not been heard from fully.

Mr. Kinney named a number of curious incidents relative to the workings of those who went out in the storm. Mrs. Browning, of Yankton County, went from her home to the stable, a distance of 100 feet, and her body was recovered Sunday seven miles from home. Charles Dollinger, a farmer of Turner County, perished seven feet from his home. A woman, whose name was not given, was found dead, unknown, of the same county, was found in a ditch, and her body was recovered Sunday from her home. A woman, who was found dead, was found in a ditch, and her body was recovered Sunday from her home. A woman, who was found dead, was found in a ditch, and her body was recovered Sunday from her home.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—An evening paper figures the loss of life to last week's blizzard at 1,000. Among the cases reported are the following: Miss Little, of Geneva, D. T., and Miss Powell, who went to rescue her; a farmer named Ziebel, and another named Zilke, near south of Big Stone City, D. T. Mr. Emmulsion started home in the storm from Ottumwa, Minn., and is missing. A foreman named Kockertitz and his hired man, who went after hay, perished in Big Stone County. A Hollander, a woman, was found dead in Randolph County, Minn., perished. It is reported from Vermillion, D. T., that over thirty persons were frozen to death in Lake County, and that the local authorities are supposed to have been killed.

An unknown man was found frozen to death three feet from John Ward's door, near Pullis, Minn. George Dow, who lived on a tree near a Noble County, Minn., was found with his mother-in-law, and both were lost.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—At Fort Snelling, Minn., the thermometer registered 35 degrees below zero during the late blizzard. At the same point on one occasion last summer it stood 130 degrees above zero, making a range of 165 degrees. It is doubtful if any such extreme variation between summer and winter temperatures has been recorded at any other spot on the globe.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21.—At 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon the thermometer at Minneapolis was 23 below; St. Paul, 24 below; Fort Gary, 30 below; Great Falls, 13 below; St. Paul, 20 below; La Crosse, 18 below; Omaha, 10 below; Huron, 14 below; Moorhead, 24 below; St. Vincent, 20 below, and all Montana stations in proportion.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 21.—It is clear and cold here, with no indications of snow and not much wind. The mercury is now 21.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—The thermometer indicated 30 below here yesterday morning, and a cutting wind added to the discomfort of railroad employes. Trains from the west and south of here were all badly delayed, and the Omaha abandoned its trains out of St. Paul and Sioux City.

The State Railway Commissioners have investigated the reports of suffering from a scarcity of fuel on the Brown valley branch of the Manitoba railroad, which has been blocked for a month. They found there had been no actual suffering, but that coal supplies were running low. General Manager Marvel promised to double the force employed in opening the road.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 21.—S. A. Marney, of the Stock-Exchange Journal, Minneapolis, Minn., now here, says the great blizzard had not seriously affected Montana stock. Another great storm is sweeping over the Northwest and it is intensely cold, but no serious results are expected.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Jan. 21.—The weather of the past week has been the coldest, with one exception, ever before known here. The mercury has not been above zero since January 8. During four successive days and nights recently the mercury did not rise above 14 degrees below zero, and last Monday the spirit thermometer indicated 48 degrees below, which was the lowest known in sixteen years. Freight trains were abandoned on the roads for the three days ending Monday, and passenger trains have been indefinitely delayed on all day lines.

WINONA, Minn., Jan. 21.—The cold wave caused a drop of 40 degrees, registering 20 below zero yesterday morning. The weather is clear and frosty, but a wind blowing westward all the railroad cuts and causes a blockade west of St. Peter.

WATERTOWN, D. T., Jan. 21.—The railroad blockade has cleared again, with the mercury 35 below at 6 o'clock yesterday morning.

STUPENDOUS COST SALE, FOR CASH!

Our entire stock of goods. On January 18th we shall offer our entire stock of goods at prime, New York cost. This we have determined to do every six years, and this is the sixth year. We are going to have a regular CLOSING OUT of our stock. It will not be for one-half day or one week; it will continue until we close out the entire lot if possible. We have more goods than we care to carry and pay insurance on; more capital than we want in the business, so we are going to give the people of Janesville and Rock County a GENUINE BENEFIT. We will give all the rest of the trade plenty of time to take account of stock and time to look over and see how they stand. These little petty sales for a few minutes the people are getting tired of. To advertise for one day and then not have the STUFF is what we are NOT going to do—but sell you the stock at cost, and people UNDERSTAND that when we say ANYTHING we mean it. We have the best stock of goods in Southern Wisconsin and bought from 10 to 20 per cent. cheaper than any stock in Rock County, as people will find out when we give them the prices in this GRAND SALE.
